Dear Parents

This week the senior leaders in school have been visiting all classes to see how well we are learning. Across the school the children, teachers and support staff are working exceptionally hard and we saw great focus throughout school. The children's books are progressing well and the sense of pride in their work shines through! Well done Worsley Bridge-keep it up!

October is Black History Month in the UK and there is a wealth of fascinating and inspirational material on line documenting the steps taken to ensure equality for black people. In our assembly this morning the children were able highlight key figures in Black History who helped to make our world a better place to live. We then took a little look at some of the work by the poet Benjamin Zephaniah, whose family moved to Birmingham from Jamaica. The children thoroughly enjoyed his poem 'I love me mother' and we were able to discuss some of the struggles that his family may have faced when they first moved to the UK.

Our assembly concluded when we heard from own published authors Hunee-Lee, Veer and Elena who read the work they created for the book 'Crazy Creatures'! Over 40,000 children submitted work for publication so congratulations to all 3 of you for this wonderful achievement! A copy can be found in the main office if you would like to take a look at their work.

Over the coming week we would like you to send in pictures of your children reading at home-the more unusual the place you catch them reading in the better! We'd like to fill our library area with fun pictures that promote reading so please get snapping. If you can email them to the attention of Miss Baggs at admin@worsleybridge.bromley.sch.uk that would be great!

Don't forget we will be collecting donations for Bromley Foodbank on Friday 13th October. We have been selected as a cereal school and your donations of any kind of breakfast cereal (in date) will be very much appreciated. We will be waiting with a collection trolley by the pedestrian gate on Friday morning! Please remember this is also the day the photographer is coming to take individual and sibling photographs. Wishing you all an enjoyable weekend.
